

“Aid and Comfort”

“Aid and Comfort”

Jane Fonda in North Vietnam

HENRY MARK HOLZER and ERIKA HOLZER

Foreword by Col. George “Bud” Day

McFarland & Company, Inc., Publishers
Jefferson, North Carolina, and London

The present work is a reprint of the illustrated case bound edition of "Aid and Comfort": Jane Fonda in North Vietnam, first published in 2002 by McFarland.

Excerpts from Citizen Jane: The Turbulent Life of Jane Fonda by Christopher Andersen are copyright © 1990 by Christopher Andersen. Reprinted by permission of Ellen Levine Literary Agency, Inc.

Excerpts from The Fondas: A Hollywood Dynasty by Peter Collier are copyright © 1991 by Peter Collier, Inc. Used by permission of G. P. Putnam's Sons, a division of Penguin Putnam Inc., and by permission of Georges Borchardt, Inc., on behalf of the author.

Excerpts from Honor Bound: American Prisoners of War in Southeast Asia 1961–1973 by Stuart I. Rochester and Frederick Kiley (1999) are reprinted by permission of the Naval Institute Press.

Drawings and excerpts from Prisoner of War: Six Years in Hanoi by John M. McGrath (1975) are reprinted by permission of the Naval Institute Press.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CATALOGUING-IN-PUBLICATION DATA

Holzer, Henry Mark, 1933–
"Aid and comfort" : Jane Fonda in North Vietnam /
Henry Mark Holzer and Erika Holzer ; foreword by Col. George "Bud" Day.
p. cm.
Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN 0-7864-2729-9 (softcover : 50# alkaline paper) ∞

1. Vietnamese Conflict, 1961–1975 — Propaganda. 2. Vietnamese Conflict, 1961–1975 — Collaborationists—United States. 3. Fonda, Jane, 1937– — Journeys—Vietnam (Democratic Republic) I. Holzer, Erika. II. Title. DS559.8.P65 H65 2006 959.704'38 — dc21 2001007176

British Library cataloguing data are available

©2002 Henry Mark Holzer and Erika Holzer. All rights reserved

No part of this book may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying or recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, without permission in writing from the publisher.

On the cover: Jane Fonda seated on an anti-aircraft gun near Hanoi during the Vietnam War in July 1972 (AP/WIDE WORLD PHOTOS)

Manufactured in the United States of America

McFarland & Company, Inc., Publishers
Box 611, Jefferson, North Carolina 28640
www.mcfarlandpub.com

To the gallant multi-national prisoners of the Pathet Lao,
Viet Minh, Viet Cong, and North Vietnamese, 1945–1973.

Those POWs' courage in the face of savage treatment
by their captors has not gone unrecognized;
their voices have not been unheard.

This book is an offering to their ordeal.

And to H. Ross Perot, stalwart friend to American prisoners of war in Laos and North Vietnam.

2-2, 1-2, 4-5.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Joe Kittinger, who supported this undertaking from the beginning, opened the door to Bud Day and to Mike McGrath, president of NAM-POW. Bud agreed to contribute a foreword. Mike, some of whose quotations and drawings appear in Chapter 3, in turn opened the door to many former Vietnam POWs, without whose help this book would not be nearly as accurate or compelling. Those veterans answered many difficult questions, and in doing so revisited painful decades-old memories because they understood that the Fonda story had to be told accurately. We were amazed by their strength, and by their commitment to fairness and accuracy despite the privations they had endured.

Henry Cohen, at the Library of Congress, provided historical materials without which this book could not have been written.

Stuart I. Rochester and Fred Kiley's Honor Bound (which we have heavily relied on) is the indispensable and invaluable resource for anyone wishing to know and understand the POW experience in Southeast Asia.

Honor Bound co-author Fred Kiley graciously contributed his time and expertise to improving the manuscript in important ways.

Duane Reed and Mike Kiley at the Special Collections division of the United States Air Force Academy library extended themselves in locating and making available to us material that we would have had difficulty locating.

Two veterans of the September 1972 House of Representatives Internal Security Committee Hearings, who requested anonymity, provided otherwise unobtainable information.

Cody K. Kelley, Esq., of the New Mexico Bar, greatly facilitated our legal research efforts.

John Cline, Esq., of the New Mexico Bar, contributed to our understanding of the form and content of modern federal criminal indictments.

Professor Stephen Cox of the Humanities Department, University of California, San Diego, was his usual cheerleading self, contributing subtle and useful suggestions about the manuscript.

Professor Rodney A. Smolla of the T.C. Williams School of Law at the University of Richmond, a world-class authority on the law of defamation and privacy, contributed important insights into these arcane subjects.

Phil Drago's Internet research was an invaluable tool in researching an important segment of the audience for this book.

During the writing of the book, friend and New York attorney Lance Gotko, was supportive in a manner well beyond the call of duty.

Bill Madison, of the New Mexico Bar, knows very well why we are indebted to him.

In their Word software, Bill Gates and his company have created a tool for writers that is truly a dream come true.

Jason Schaefer, a very talented young man, created and maintained the HANOI-JANE.NET website, which will contribute to the success of this book.

Chuck and Mary Schantag of POW Network graciously assisted us in communicating the existence of this book to many veterans whom we could not otherwise have reached.

The late Ayn Rand — friend and mentor, who helped us learn to think and to write — while never knowing the entire Fonda story, deplored her trip to Hanoi. We regret that Ayn could not have seen this case against Jane Fonda.

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	vii
Foreword by Col. George “Bud” Day	x
Introduction: In Pursuit of Justice	1
Part I: Prelude to North Vietnam
<hr/>
1— The Early Jane Fonda	11
2— The Anti-War Jane Fonda	20
Part II: In North Vietnam
<hr/>
3— Captive Audience: The American POWs	33
4— “Adhering to Their Enemies”	59
5— “Giving Them Aid and Comfort”	77
Part III: Treason
<hr/>
6— Constitutional Treason	95
7— World War II Treason Prosecutions	113
8— Jane Fonda and the Law of Treason	131
Part IV: Closure
<hr/>
9— The Government’s Capitulation	145
10— United States of America v. Jane Fonda	165
Conclusion	171
Appendix: Texts of Fonda’s Hanoi Broadcasts to U.S. Servicemen	173
Bibliography	199
Index	203